The New Haven commonwealth, K. T., will work the Red Cross degree this evening.

Mrs. C. H. Johnson of New Haven is visiting her brother, William Willard, sr., in Clinton.

Mrs. H. D. Northrop will occupy her summer home in Saybrook after April 1. Mrs. Kate Henney, forty years old, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lyman of Middletown, who have been ill for the past nine weeks with typhoid fever, are a little better.

Representative Newton of New Haven prophesied yesterday that the general assembly will adjourn between May 3 and May 19.

Senator Dayton of the Seventh district said yesterday that the New Haven county senators would probably be able to decide the Howe School for Boys trusteeship matter next week.

Mrs. Maria Doyle, seventy years old, another inmate of the almshouse, died there yesterday. She had been an inmate of the almshouse the last ten years.

Miss Barbara O'Gillivie of Dundee, Scotland, who has been on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. James Mustards of 94 Crown street, returns to Scotland by the Allan State liner steamship State of California a week from Saturday.

Joseph J. Johnson of the firm of J. Johnson & Son, will be married in Chicago on March 23. Among those who will attend from this city are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Johnson, Milton Weil, B. Mintoque Mann, Mr. and Mrs. I. Newman, also J. Kaiser of Waterbury.

Clifford L. Hemmingway of Fair Haven has been in Groton this week looking over territory back of that village for a site for a machine shop to manufacture some small article recently patented. He is said to have secured the refusal of several places.

The second regiment, C. N. G., continues to stand at the head of the list, the figures of merit just out being: Second regiment, 96.19; First, 92.85; Third, 89.69; Fourth, 92.12; Brigade signal corps, 93.86; machine gun battery, 94.10; Battery A, S. C., 93.49; naval militia, 91.14.

Motorman John J. Quinn of the Fair Haven and Westville road received a severe electric shock at the corner of Chapel and Academy streets yesterday morning. The trolley wire broke and fell across the platform and Quinn attempted to throw it off. He was knocked down and had to be taken home.

Franklin L. Curtiss of Chestnut Tree Hill has kept a record of the snow storms this winter, and there have been sixteen. Five fell in November, one in December, six in January, three in February including the blizzard on the 8th, the results of which have not yet wholly disappeared from many portions of the state.

Rev. Charles E. Barto of Clinton, who has been on the sick list, is convalescent. The reverend gentleman has handed in his resignation as pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church in Clinton, the same to take effect at the close of the present conference year. He has accepted a call to a more lucrative appointment at New Milford.

Colonel Simeon J. Fox of this city, ex-assistant adjutant general of the state, appeared before the claims committee this week in favor of the claim of Ira E. Fonda of New Haven for a pension. Fonda, then a member of the Gulfport battery, contracted typhoid fever while in camp at Niantic in 1878. He now has necrosis of the arm resulting from the fever.

The bankrupt sale at Oak Hall is drawing big crowds.

FUNERAL OF PATRICK DOYLE.

One of the Largest Ever Seen in Fair Haven—Many City Officials Present—Beautiful Floral Tokens—A Large Attendance of City Officials and Others.

The funeral of the late Superintendent of Streets Patrick Doyle was held yesterday morning at St. Francis' church. The big church was filled to overflowing with sorrowing friends. Among those present, friends of the deceased, were Mayor Hendrick, ex-Mayor Sargent, the members of the board of public works, Chief Kennedy of the fire department, Superintendent Smith of the police department, Engineer Kelly and Clerk Bassett, and others, all of whom were among the city officials who attended. Then there were delegations from the Knights of Honor, the Knights of St. Patrick and the Knights of Columbus, to all of which organizations Mr. Doyle belonged.

The Knights of St. Patrick, under the leadership of President William Neely, formed an escort from the deceased's residence to the church. They all wore in memorial badges and crepe on their arms. The interment was in St. Bernard cemetery, where burial services were conducted by Father Mulholland.

The funeral arrangements were directed by Alderman W. J. Connor for the family and Undertaker Frank Keenan. There was a large Belgian contingent in the cortege. The cortege, led by the Knights of St. Patrick, Long before the solemn requiem mass was commenced the side aisles were filled. The center aisle was reserved for the family, their immediate relatives and friends, and the members of the city government. It was, without doubt, the longest funeral procession which has left Fair Haven for years, there being seventy-six carriages. It attested the wide popularity of the deceased. The police arrangements were in charge of Officers Caulfield, Gates and McCarthy. Before the church services short services were held at the home of the bereaved family. At the church a solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated, Rev. Father Mulholland being celebrant; Rev. Father McKee of Sacred Heart church, deacon; Rev. Father Shanley, sub-deacon, and Rev. Father D. J. O'Connor, master of ceremonies. The procession, within the sanctuary, following Father Shanley, was led by Father Mulholland, followed by Father McKee, Father Shanley, Father D. J. O'Connor and Father McGowan. The requiem mass was sung by the full choir assisted by a special quartet. During the mass Mrs. Nora Russell-Haese rendered "There is a Green Hill Far Away" very feelingly. The music was under the direction of Prof. W. J. Rohan, and Miss Tessie Rohan very efficiently acted as organist. The music in the main aisle were Dr. Moore, and Jerome Donovan, friends of the family, and ex-Alderman Francis W. Foley from the Knights of St. Patrick.

The Rev. Father Mulholland was celebrant of the mass. He spoke in feeling terms of the many good qualities of the deceased and his long and faithful performance of his duties as a public official. During his remarks there were many dry eyes in the congregation. He spoke at some length on the good member, ever ready to lend a helping hand to the unfortunate. His charitable deeds were known only to those whom he had assisted, and perhaps the full extent of his good works would never be known. One thing at least was very manifest, he added, and that was Mr. Doyle had performed his duty well to his Maker and to his fellow beings, and it was appreciated. Father Mulholland concluded by extending the sympathy of all to the grief-stricken family and relatives, and in a feeling manner asked them to remember the deceased as a man of honor, integrity and worth.

The pallbearers were Colonel John G. Healy, ex-Senator Joseph D. Plunkett, Mayor T. F. Callahan and Michael Dillon, representing the Knights of St. Patrick; and James F. Toole, John Devlin, Frank Campbell and Michael Welch of the Knights of Columbus. The flower bearers were Masters John Collins, Joseph Husdon, Walter Fahy, John Fogarty and Walter Dillon. There were numerous floral tributes, among them the following: A magnificent Celtic cross from the deceased's wife, a beautiful elevated cross from the board of public works, which was an exceptionally fine piece among the many lovely floral tokens. The cross, which was specially designed and executed by Mr. Dickerman, the florist, stood about five feet high, the body and arm of the cross being of polished ivy leaves, very beautiful, the upright piece ringed thrice with roses, the rings being of white bridge roses, peonies and carnations, respectively. Royal palm leaves, Easter lilies and blue hyacinths adorned the massive base of the cross, with lilies of the valley and sheaves of wheat contributed to the beauty of the piece. There were also three very beautiful pieces from the Knights of St. Patrick, four pillows from three of Mr. Doyle's sisters, Mrs. Patrick Burke, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Morris of Jersey City, and from his brother, John Doyle; a harp from the Knights of Honor, pillow from the Knights of Columbus, four pillows from Mr. Doyle's nephews, wreath of lilies from Miss Burke, wreath from J. J. Brennan, bunch of lilies from employees of the public works department.

The interment was in St. Bernard cemetery. Among the prominent city officials and citizens who attended the funeral were: His honor, Mayor A. C. Hendrick, ex-Mayor Joseph B. Sargent, the commissioners of the board of public works, Messrs. James N. States, James E. McGinn, James Bishop, Lyman H. Johnson, George M. Grant and N. B. Hoyt; Henry W. Crawford, ex-Congressman Pigott, City Attorney Fox, ex-Commissioner R. M. Sheridan, ex-City Clerk James B. Martin, Frederick H. Waldron, Jailer William O'Keefe, Chief A. J. Kennedy, Superintendent of Police Smith, Alderman Dwight W. Blakeslee, Registrar Patrick Welch, M. J. Donlan, ex-Assessor John J. Brennan, Owen A. Crook, Registrar Francis W. Foley, Edward Boyhan, Richard Blakeslee, James Brennan, Major Patrick Maher, William Neely, Thomas J. Kinney, C. H. Conway, Commissioner M. F. Walker, J. Thompson, Superintendent of Parks Terrence Kelly, Michael Fahy, Consul Edward Downes, ex-Commissioner William Malley, Attorney C. T. Driscoll, Registrar James J. Carr, Assessor William F. Shannon, Edward McGowan, County Commissioner Reynolds, George Mitchell, Sergeant McGrath, Selectman Joel F. Gilbert, ex-Commissioner William J. Atwater, ex-Commissioner Todd, ex-Commissioner Thomas H. Sullivan, Police Commissioner Daniel Gilhuly, Superintendent of Water Company Edward Dillon, ex-Sheriff Brannigan, Patrick Kent, James P. Brennan, Francis J. Taylor, James P. Linahan, Attorney James P. Bree, James Galvin, William Morris of Jersey City, M. F. Campbell, John H. Connors, T. F. Donnelly, John Maloney, John Gibbons, Michael Kendall, Lewis C. Lewinson, Michael Egan, City Engineer Kelly, Richard Connolly and many others.

SCHOOL HOUSE BURNED.

Totally Destroyed With a Library of Nearly One Thousand Volumes.

Madison, March 21.—The Boston street district school at this place was totally destroyed by fire early this morning. The school was a two-story brick structure. A school room was on the first floor and a library in the room overhead of about one thousand volumes.

The fire, which broke out at about 1 o'clock, was first seen by Wesley Way, who is the telegraph operator in the tower on the railroad in East Haven. Seeing the light he inquired of the Madison operator, who, looking out of his window, saw that the school house was burning. It was first discovered in the town about 3 o'clock by parties returning from a dance. At that time the roof had fallen in. An alarm was given, but nothing could be done to save the building or contents and therefore the bells were not rung and many inhabitants did not know of the fire until daylight.

All was totally destroyed. The origin of the fire is not known, but Miss Lillie Cram, the librarian, who left at 8 o'clock, says she left a stick of wood in the stove sticking out the door, as it would not go in, and the fire undoubtedly originated from this. The school was to close yesterday for two weeks. The loss on the building is about $2,000 and the library $1,000. There is no insurance. Of the one thousand books in the library, three hundred had recently been purchased.

The destruction of the school house will probably result in the consolidation of the Green and Boston districts and the erection of a graded school to be preparatory to the Hand high school.

The building destroyed was about forty years old. N. T. Bushnell, the hardware merchant of New Haven, lives next door to the burned school house, but neither he nor many others living in the vicinity heard of the fire until they awoke from their slumbers at daylight, the bells not being rung. The library received an addition of 250 new books the day before the fire, but many of these were saved, as there was such a lively call for the new books that most of them were taken to their homes by the patrons of the library in an hour or two after the books were ticketed for distribution.

NEW HAVEN ORCHESTRAL CLUB.

Third Concert in Hyperion Next Wednesday Evening.

The third of the course of concerts given by the New Haven Orchestral club will be given in the Hyperion next Wednesday night, March 27. The concert was booked for next Wednesday night, the Hyperion being engaged for it, but the rental was kindly given up for the Ysaie concert, that being the only night the great violinist could come to the city this season. Mr. Charles Mann, the baritone, of this city, will assist. All those who go will be assured a great treat.

PASSAGE IS ENGAGED.

Cornell's Crew Will Be American in Every Particular.

New York, March 21.—Passage was engaged to-day to Southampton and return by the American line steamers for the Cornell varsity crew. The party will consist of sixteen persons. The Ithaca oarsmen, with paper shells, will sail from New York on May 29 on the Paris and at once proceed to Henley, where they will train for the grand challenge cup race, to be rowed on the Thames during the second week of July.

In this event the American collegians will meet the best crews of England, France and any other country that may aspire to the aquatic championship of the world, and will include the famous Leander eight, composed exclusively of the best oarsmen of Oxford and Cambridge universities.

This will be the first American eight-oared crew to visit England and row in England's regatta at Henley, although several four-oared varsity and amateur crews of this country have in past years competed in England with varying success.

Everything connected with this trip will be American—an American universal crew, composed entirely of Americans, coached by Charles E. Courtney, to row a distinctively American stroke, rowing in paper boats made only in America and rigged according to American ideas, and carried to and from England on an American line of steamships.

Use It in Time.

Catarrh starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat, and is in fact, the great enemy of the mucous membrane. Neglected colds in the head almost invariably precede catarrh, causing an excessive flow of mucus, and if the mucous discharge becomes interrupted the disagreeable results of catarrh will follow, such as bad breath, severe pain across forehead and about the eyes, a roaring and buzzing sound in the ears and oftentimes a very offensive discharge. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles. m122 Stead 11w
